

RLM resource use grows with task and corpus scale

RLM only; unweighted mean $\pm$ SEM across four terminal model arms. Resource means include successful scored trajectories only; terminal failures do not enter these means and are never assigned zero resource use. Recorded latency and process wall time are independent elapsed-time measurements; peak memory is measured per job.